THE CHIEF DID NOT COME BACK;

before I arrested him I noticed that every time he passed any person he pulled his hat over his forehead; his mouth and mustache were completely covered with the handkerchief; he said he was going over to New York to see a man, but as he expected the officers were looking for him at the ferry he would not go that way.

Michael Kilcauley examined:—Am in the detective business at the Central Railroad ferry, but am known to the company as special agent; know McWilliams; saw him on the night that I heard he was arrested by Gronin, about eight o'clock; I was standing on the stoop of the First precinct station house; McWilliams came along and hollosed to me; I went with him along Gregory street and asked him where he was going; ne said he wanted me to tell Edmondson or Dickson he was going down to his sister's in Laisyette and that he would be back in the morning; I spoke to him about his drinking and said I thought he was acting foolishly and that his friends would lose confidence in him if he kept going on so; he said, "These fellows (the burglars) have tried to ruln me," or "have ruined me;" he went up through Henderson to Varick street and I crossed over to New York; I went to New York to see a man on private business on Broadway, but I did not go there was that when I was going over the ferry; after taking a drink I came back; I went to New York to see a man on private business on Broadway, but I did not go there was that when I was going over the ferry the thought struck me there was a great deal of talk among the people about McWilliams, and as I was very intimate with him some remarks might be made if I absented myself.

The Attorney General offered in evidence a copy of the letter written by Proctor to his suster, and which it was understood referred to the conspiracy to break open the jail and release the burglars. The defence objected, and the Court reserved decisi inquired for Mrs. Devereux, and was told she was not there; the letter was given me by Proctor.

Jacob Brinkerhoff, who was sent to the same house by the District Attorney to find Mrs. Devereux, testified that he could not find her, and was informed by the servant girl that she had left that

J. E. SCOTT.

Constable Henry F. Crawford deposed that he arrested John Doyle and found on him a memorandum book, which was produced, and which it was understood contained memoranda damaging to the accused.

Alfred Dayton deposed that he saw McWilliams on the night of Friday, 11th of October, on the New York and New Haven train coming to New York.

Mrs. Jones, the jaller, was examined in reference to money matters between Proctor and Mr. Windeld.

to money matters between Proctor and Mr. Winfield.

The District Attorney then announced that the case for the State was closed.

THE DEFENCE OPENED.

Connsel for the defence opened by calling Chief McWilliams to the stand. Counsel expected that the prosecution would object on account of the conviction and disqualification of McWilliams, but they were disappointed. The Attorney General stated that while the State could insist on the exclusion of McWilliams as a witness every facility would be afforded to the defence and the objection would be waived.

M'WILLIAMS' STATEMENT.

Have lived in Jersey City about thirty years; have been Chief about two years; previous to that I was detective for the Erie Raliroad Company; was there about two years; since 1863 have been employed in these two places; previous to 1863 I was in the army in Virginia. When I first went on the police went as chanceman, then patrolman, then special agent for the city in paying bounties; then went back on the lorce; was appointed detective; during the time I was a detective my duty called me all over the country. Became acquainted with names and characters of many criminals. Knew Denning by sight two years; in New York. First spoke to him at the Jersey City ferry, on this side. It was about the latter part of last April. Was standing on corner of Exchange place and Hudson street. He came by and I followed him. Stopped him and asked him what he was doing here. Said he was living here. Warned him not to ply his profession here. Never saw him since that time till I saw him in jail. Have seen him in a ballroom in Mercer street, New York. Never spoke to him. Never spoke to him and sample room. Never conversed with him about robbing a bank. Never sow aman named Lane. Never spoke to him front of It; nor in the building adjoining the bank. Didn't know of an attempt on the bank previous to the arrest of these parties. Never knew Proctor. Knew Foley by sight about eight years. Never spoke to him in the jail. Was in Philadelphia on June 5. Left on night of the 4th. Went to the Convention. Left there at three o'clock P. M. on the 6th. While there Mr. Gopall read the despatch from Mr. Sandford. Said Was in Philadelphis on June 5. Left on night of the 4th. Went to the Convention. Left there at three o'clock P. M. on the 6th. While there Mr. Gopsili read the despatch from Mr. Sandford. Said I didn't know what Sandford meant, as I left him at two o'clock that morning. Didn't think it anything important and determined not to go home that night. Never told any one I was in a house. Advanced no money to pay rent for those rooms in Exchange place. First saw Mrs. Devereux since the arrest; was sitting in the door when she came to the station house, and I went with her into my office. She told me she was Proctor's sister, and as she heard I was a good fellow she wanted me to show her the tools so she could form a line of defence. She said her brother should not go to State Prison If she sacrificed this world. about two weeks ago Winfield's clerk brought me a letter signed by Proctor's sister, in which she asked me to come to New York, as she had valuable information for me. Didn't answer the note. The next night Mrs. Devereux called on me and wanted me to call at 212 West Forty-third street, and she would get Cummings arrested, and if she did she was promised her brother should be let off. It was to tell me about Cummings that she wanted me to come to New York. Told her I would send Doyle, as I could not come. That is the last I saw of her. Doyle went over. Knew of their wish lor an examination, but never talked about helping them to escape. They have complained to others of my watchfulness over them. Never told either of them I lost a $100 bet on Bumsted. Never made such a bet.

watchfulness over them. Never told either of them I lost a $100 bet on Bumsted. Never made such a bet.

Cross-examined by the Attorney General—I did say I would bet $100 that Bumsted would never come back; but I did not say that I had lost that sum; told the District Attorney I did not think Bumsted would come back, for he told me he would not come back; I was not in charge of the officers at the Jail.

Q. Why, then, did the prisoners complain of your keeping strict guard over them? A. Well, I don't know; I just simply mentioned that I heard their friends say so; Mr. Young was in command of the officers at the jail.

Q. Tell us how Denning came to send for yon? A. I was in the Captain's' room, in the station house, on a Saturday, and we were very busy fixing up our books, when a strange man came in and said Denning wanted to see me; I said, "What Denning." and he replied, "Denning, the thief, that is confined in the jail;" I said I was very busy that day and would go up on Monday; I never saw that man before, nor have I seen him since.

THE NATHAN MURDER AGAIN.

Q. Did you not say to Young that Colonel Wood sent you word that Denning was connected with the Nathan murder? A. I did not; when I procured the permit I went to Denning's cell, and found him lying in bed; asked him why he sent for me; said he was afraid they would take him to New York on the Nathan business, and he wanted me to prevent it if I could; he said he had nothing to do with it, but that he knew Feiter, of Chicago, who was supposed to be connected with it.

Q. You said to Mrs. Devereux, "I will send Doyle over"—then she must have known Doyle, otherwise you would not have expressed it in that familiar way? A. No, I did not say so.

GOLD STEADY AND FIRM.

The Exports and Imports and the Cotton Movement for the Week.

WALL STREET,
SATURDAY, Oct. 26—6 P. M. }
On 'Change to-day cotton was in brisk demand both for "spot" and "future," and the market remained firm. Flour and wheat were dutl, but not quotably changed, and corn was quiet and easier. THE IMPORTS AND EXPORTS OF THE WEEK.

The total imports of foreign goods at this port during the past week were $7,459,511, distributed between $5,175,484 of general merchandise and $2,284,027 of dry goods.

The total exports were $5,366,824, the whole amount since January 1 having been $189,068,991, against $195,364,169 last year.

THE COTTON MOVEMENT.

The receipts of cotton at all ports for the past week were 113,148 bales, against 98,291 bales the previous week. The total receipts since September 1, 1872, are 526,214 bales, against 363,039 for the same period of last year, showing an increase in the present crop of 163,175 bales. The exports from all ports for the week were 48,885 bales, against 39,911 bales last year. The total exports for the expired portion of the cotton year are 189,281 bales, against 154,131 bales last year. The stock at all the ports is 252,308 bales, against 219,526 bales for the same date in 1871.

THE BANK STATEMENT.

The weekly statement of the associated banks is unfavorable, and shows a loss in surplus reserve of over two and a half millions. The amount of sur-plus left is still, however, considerable for the season of the year, and the banks are as strong as they were six weeks or two months ago, before the Fall shipments of currency began. The loans show an increase of over four millions, and we have reason for believing that the accommodation went chiefly to the mercantile interest. The heavier imports of the week have drawn upon

THE GOLD SUPPLY OF THE BANKS and diverted a great deal of coin into the Sub-Treasury, so that with the specie exported during the week counting partially in the averages the item of specie shows a falling off of nearly two millions. A small decrease in legal tenders has no noteworthy signification. An increase in deposits is as nearly as may be the remainder after deducting the loss of specie from the increase in loans. The statement compares with its predecessor of

The gold market opened at 113½, advanced to 113½, fell off to 113 and closed at 113½. The Sub-Treasury paid out $220,000 on account of interest and $10,000 on account of redeemed five-twenties. The steamers to-day took out $1,400,577. of which $1,200,000 was gold coin. The closing quotation for gold was 113 a 113%.

STOCKS ACTIVE AND IRREGULAR.

The stock market was active and generally strong, but irregular in some of its features. Pacific Mail was dull at 101% a 103, closing 102%. Panama advanced to 148%. The chief activity was in Northwestern, which advanced to 83%. The sale of 10,000 shares yesterday at 78 is set down to the account of Daniel Drew, and generally believed to have been a speculative sale. As the huver was lay been a speculative sale. As the buyer was Jay Gould, the leading "buil" of the market, it is pos-sible that "Daniel" may be subjected to a little of the treatment he administered to "Jay" in the Eric corner not long ago. Mr. Drew is out of town, and his brokers say the stock was long stock. If so he had been holding it ever since it came to him, a year ago, by deliveries upon his "puts." Ohios rose two per cent and Lake Shore and C., C. and I. C. one per cent. On the other hand, Western Union was depressed by stories that the company have been selling their stock. Wabash was lower and Rock Island heavy and weak. Late in the day New York Central became active and advanced to 96%. The bank statement caused a good deal of realizing, but without causing any important decline. It is said that the "bulis" in Northwestern proposed a settlement with the "shorts" at $2, and not succeeding ran the price up to $3%.

There was but one call of the Southern State bonds, as usual on Saturday. The market was steady and moderately active. HIGHEST AND LOWEST PRICES. The following table shows the highest and lowest

ROBBED IN THE BOWERY.

Seven Watches and $800 in Gold Stolen from a Man's Room-The Property Recovered.

Koleman Bartell is a German, who came to this country about six weeks ago, since which time he has been stopping at 27 Bowery. From the father-land Bartell brought with him $800 in gold and seven watches, four of them gold. Last Wednesday he left his room—in a closet of which were his money and watches—about one o'clock, and did money and watches—about one o'clock, and did not return until twelve at night. When, to his horror, he discovered that some one had broken into his apartment and robbed him of his entire worldly possessions. Captain Tynan, of the Tenth precinct, was immediately informed of the robbery, and setting to work vigorously was not long in arresting the thief, one Felix Bertand, a German, recently arrived here, together with some half dozen alleged confederates and receivers. On ariesting Bertand the gold was all recovered, as well as five of the watches, all of which had been pawned. The thief frankly admitted the crime, but sileged that he was instigated thereto by Charles Miller, who was also arrested. The parties were arraigned before Judge Scott, at the Essex Market Police Court, vesterday afternoon, and, upon examination, Bertand was committed in default of $5,000 hall. Joseph Fisher, a young man, to whom Bertand claims to have given twenty-five sovereigns on condition that he would not expose him, was committed in the sum of $2,000, and Abraham Unifielder and Charles Miller, both of whom, it is claimed, received one or more of the watches, and one of whom (Miller) is alleged to have conspired with Bertand, were committed for further investigation.
